1931 Spectrum Staff Named By Committee

Katherine Vinson Elected Editor-in-Chief. Associate Editors Also Named for Year Book.

The members of the 1931 staff of the Spectrum, the annual of the Georgia State College for Women, were announced this week. The staff members were selected this week at a meeting of the committee chosen by President Beeson for this purpose. The committee consisted of members of the old Spectrum staff, Dr. Beeson, President, Miss Crowell, members of the English faculty, and Miss Padgett, head of the art department.

The following are those selected for the staff 1931.

Editor-in-Chief, Katherine Vinson, Cordele, Ga.

Associate Editors, Sara Harvey, Monticello; Martha Parker, Atlanta. Secretary—Mary Bell Gibson, Quitman.

Fitzgerald; Helen Barran, Lexington.

Feature Editors—Bobby Burns, Athletic Editor—Elizabeth Cawart, Union Point.

Local Editors—Christine Dekle, Metter; Lucy Davis, Milledgeville.

Business Managers—Miriam Rustin, Meigs.

Asst. Business Mgr.—Majorie Neal, St. Simons.

Treasurer—Paunee Rigsby, Cairo. Circulation Managers—Ida Belle Interkin; Margaret Trapnell, Newnan.

Advertising Managers—Catherine Jones, Augusta; Virginia Hill, Greenville.

Art Editors—Margaret Cunningham, Decatur; Louise McCarthy, White Plains.

The class editors will be announced later.

MATHEMATICS CLUB MEETS

The Mathematics Club held the first meeting of the fall term Tuesday afternoon September 30, 1930.

The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers and discuss plans for the year.

The following officers were elected: Norma Dunaway, President; Frances Matthews, Vice-President; Fleda Perry, Secretary; Mary Ellen Perkins, Treasurer; Dorothy Hendrix, Chairman of Social Committee.

JOURNALISM CLASS VISITS UNION-RECORDER OFFICE

The class in Journalism of the Georgia State College for Women visited the plant of the Union-Recorder Wednesday. The details of printing were explained by the "force" to the eager prospective newspaper women.

The class is composed of Norma Dunaway, Americus; Mary Bell Gibson and Margaret Arthur, Quitman; Virginia McLaughlin, Greenville; Eva Jean Heirs, Berlin; Sara Jo Barron, Round Oak; Margaret Trapnell, Newnan; Elizabeth Millikin, Jesup; Fannie Wortham, Roopville; Marion Jones and Emily Sanders, Atlanta; Marian Power, Woodstock; Anna B. Cooper, Lawrenceville; and Maymie Norwood, Milledgeville.

Opera Company Opens Stage Season at G. S. C.

Large Audience Hears "The Bohemian Girl" Sung by Talented Opera Company

On Friday evening, October 10, the Opera Comique Company presented "The Bohemian Girl" sung in English. Despite the rain a large audience was present to hear the opening stage attraction of the season.

The opening choruses of the first and second acts were sung by the glee club of the sophomore class. Their chorus work contributed largely to the effectiveness of the opening of the acts.

In the opening scene little Miss Allen, of Milledgeville, played the part of the child, Arlene. In this scene Mr. Leo De Heirapolis displayed his ability to carry his role well. "The Heart Bowed Down" in the first scene of the last act was unusual beautiful.

The manner in which Mr. Francis J. Taylor, as Devil's-hoof, the gypsy, played his part was at times overdrawn, and melodramatic. His singing, however, was very creditable. His repertoire consists of a hundred operatic roles.

Miss Cecil Arden, as Arlene, proved her worth as a dramatic soprano. "I Dreamt I Dwelled In Marble Halls" and her solo work in the last act were Miss Arden's best work. Both arias were sung with the lightness and ease of a finished artist.

Miss Arden was formerly Prima Donna of the French-American Opera Comique.

Playing opposite Miss Arden, Joseph with Wetzel, as Thaddeus, sang his role a great deal of feeling. Mr. Wetzel has a tenor voice of unusual quality.

The aria, "Silence The Moon," was the best quartet work of the entire performance.

Miss Hazel Huntington, contralto, as the gypsy queen, sang with ease and poise. Her stage personality was outstanding. Miss Huntington has a voice of unusual volume and strength.

The stage settings left much to be desired, but as a whole the performance was very good.

This opera is the first of the many interesting and entertaining presented this year.

C. R. R. Magazine Features G. S. C. W.

The October number of the right-Way magazine the official publication of the Central of Georgia railroad came from the press this week as a feature number, giving over much space to the colleges in the territory of the railroad.

A picture of the Auditorium of G. S. C. W. was selected as the front piece. In the write-up which appeared on the inside, the following was published:

At Milledgeville is an important unit of the University system—the Georgia State College for Women. Founded in 1889 as the Georgia Normal and Industrial College for Girls, it was the first college for women supported by the State of Georgia. Not only was it the first normal school in Georgia but the first to offer a modern professional training for teachers. It was in many ways a pioneer in forms of education which are now becoming popular. It was the first college to require Agriculture and Home Economics in a regular course of study for students. It was the first college in Georgia to teach Home Economics.

The creed of the Georgia State College for Women was summed up some years ago by its former president, the late Dr. Marvin M. Parks, as follows:

"It is distinctly a woman's college. It does not seek to imitate the educational practices that have prevailed in colleges for men. It does not seek to conform to tradition. In its fixed requirements, the College has deliberately broken away from what it considers many of the false fashions of the past. It believes that women have interests and ambitions and spheres of usefulness peculiarly their own. It believes that there are fields of work for women which call for new courses of study. It believes that the education of young women should be vitally concerned first about matters of health and character and personality. It believes that all the science and arts should be made to contribute to an improvement of the home, the school, the farm, the child, and of society in general. Following these new ideals in education, the College asks not only what has been taught but also what ought to be taught to women."

Junior Class Elects Officers for Year

Mary Rogers Named President And Bess Bell Named Vice President for 1930-31

Milledgeville, Ga., October 10. The recent election of officers for the Junior Class of the Georgia State College for Women, named the following girls: President, Mary Rogers, Gainesville, Ga.; Vice-President, Bessie Bell, Milledgeville, Ga.; Secretary, Bobby Burns, Fitzgerald, Ga.; Treasurer, Margaret Trapnell, Newnan, Ga.

Miss Rogers was Field Day Captain of her class as a freshman and as a sophomore, and treasurer of the class during her sophomore year.

Miss Bell has been prominent in the history Club, Town Girls' Club and other extra-curricular activities.

Miss Burns is a member of the staffs of the Colonnade, the college newspaper, and the Corinthian, the college literary magazine, and has taken active part in campus dramatics.

Miss Trapnell is also a member of the staffs of college publications and Executive of the Religious Department of the Y. W. C. A.

LOCAL STUDENTS AT G. S. C. W. ORGANIZE

At a meeting of the local students of the Georgia State College for Women this week, class representatives were chosen and plans made for the complete organization of the Baldwin county group. Mrs. J. T. Terry, matron, and President J. L. Beeson outlined their plans and urged co-operation in order that the one hundred and five students might receive the most good from their courses.

The following young ladies were elected representatives: Miss Elizabeth Yarbrough, freshman; Miss Eunice Chandler, sophomore; Miss Lucie Davis, junior; Miss La Vera Morgan, senior.

The Georgia State College for Women grants degrees and diplomas to larger classes of students each year, graduates who go out well trained for teachers' positions in the elementary schools, the high schools, and special lines of instruction throughout the state. The picture on our cover shows Chapell Hall and the Richard B. Russell Auditorium, two of the newer buildings. Dr. Jasper L. Beeson is president of the college.

Student Body Takes In County Fair Thursday

Merry-go-round, Ferris Wheel and Whip Rushed as Students Throng Fair Grounds.

Irrespective of the rain which drizzled intermittently during the afternoon, G. S. C. W. Day at the Milledgeville Fair was the culmination of hopes and joys hoarded and anticipated for weeks in advance.

Thursday, the long line proceeded unbroken to the fair grounds, but once arrived, dispersed like bubbles suddenly burst. Seven hundred jolly, laughing girls scampered in all directions to ride the whip, the tilt-a-whirl, the ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, and to see the midget, the snake charmer, the mystery girl, and the wonder-man.

Of scientific and educational interest to the girls was "The Worthwhile Working World," a composite miniature of the various kinds of industry and activities prevalent throughout the United States.

"Hot-dogs, weiners, candy—ice cream, peanuts! How familiar both sounds and whiffs to the eyes, ears, and noses of every bystander. The smell of mustard, onions, and wet sawdust, mingled, were constant reminders of a hungry sensation at the "Fair."

On every side human interest stories stuck out on stems. Tear streaked faces, the result of too much onion, a faint pale face, the outcome of too many rides and awed expressions, inspired by the mystery girl were concrete evidence by both the comedy and tragedy of "going to the fair." And had it not been for the rain, which eventually routed everyone, the hotdog stands and church booths would have had to start in on new supplies—because everybody loves to eat! And even though the Fair day wasn't fair, who cares when the Fairs' in in town!

NEW TYPEWRITERS RECEIVED BY COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The value of the Department of Commerce has recently been greatly enhanced by the complete replacement of the old typewriters by new Remington Noiseless machines. One can no longer tell by listening from afar whether or not a typewriting class is in session.

This improvement adds still further to the advancement recently begun when a course of study in Stenotypy, the mechanical system of stenography, was introduced into the department. This system, too, is completely silent in its operation, affording a completely satisfactory routine for the noiseless writing and transcription of notes.

The administrative offices are benefited by the installation of the noiseless typewriters, each receiving one new machine. Twenty-four have been placed in the typewriting classroom.

The Department of Commerce is one of the strongest departments of the college. A large number of students who are not business specialists take advantage of the courses offered by the department and take a business course along with their regular work.

Mr. T. L. McComb Makes Unique Gift To Historical Museum

By Mrs. J. L. Beeson
An interesting relic of the past is the gift of Mr. T. L. McComb to the Georgia State College for Women. It is a large lock and key taken from an old door which was once a part of the old Governor's Mansion.

Milledgeville folks are constantly learning more of the past.

In the second edition of Sherwood's Gazette, published 1829, is a map of Milledgeville, and the Government House is placed in the corner of the Mansion lot not quite opposite the home of Dr. Richard B. Bion in the S. W. Corner of the Mansion square.

We have always known that the Government House faced Green street, for in 1825 when Lofayette visited Milledgeville, all the soldiers' parades formed on Green street to conduct the Governor and his guest to the State House.

Mr. T. L. McComb says that when the present old mansion was built, the proceeding Governors' mansion was divided into three parts, and sold; or was sold and divided into three parts. One part, he says, was made into a nice house which is now a part of the Cline house and was once owned by the Bealls. The second part was moved across the street, and a part of the house of Dr. White, which stood where the home of Mrs. John Conn now stands. Afterwards it was moved down on Clark street to where it now stands as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boling Moore.

A third part of the old mansion went into a house, built on the site of Mr. T. L. McComb's own home. When he built his brick home he moved the old house to an adjacent lot.

The old lock and key is taken from one of the original doors, and is both pretty and unique. The old brass key covering which was on the outside of the old "Crusaders Cross" door is also unique. The gift of Mrs. McComb will occupy a prominent place in the College Museum.

THE ENGLISH CLUB HIKE

The recent organization of the English Club naturally called for some function which would give the girls an opportunity to become acquainted with other, making it a social as well as literary club. By unanimous decision of the club a hike was planned.

We met in front of Parks' Hall, Monday afternoon at four-thirty, and at about five we left for Government Square Park. After hiking and hiking and hiking we finally came to the place. Dr. Hunter, instructor and general advisor of the club, had made a bunch of placards and on each placard was the name of a girl. These were given to their respective owners. This was done so that everyone would know everybody. When this was done the club was divided into four groups with a captain who had previously prepared a short skit. Well, we put them on—and they were all good, but of course we thought ours was the best. But Anna Everette did display unusual ability in writing her skit entitled "He Said-She Said" or something like that, and then the next ones suggested that we have "Gentle for Dinner." But we were surprised at one group; we had thought that Freshmen could spell, but I suppose we didn't register right because that group had a "spelling bee" and you know they missed more words. It was astonishing! And then too you'd have d'ed seeing "Puss" Minter and Marion Stewart trying to get their "family" across the railroad track. (I hope there's no train from the East today.)

According to custom we served refreshments. They were good too. We had a Hot-dog and a "Coke." Those really were the best Hot-dogs; especially to those who managed to get two.

Then Dr. Hunter suggested a game to play. It was like this: Each girl was to recite or originate a sentence using the name of another girl. Hence, "I went down in the 'woods' and sat down by a 'Brook' and saw the cutest little 'Minter' swimming around, and so on.

We sang and had the best time coming home. We're 100 per cent for Dr. Hunter and the English Club.

The temporary officers of the club are: Frances Williams, Douglas, president, and Marjorie Tidwell, August, secretary. All who are members of Dr. Hunter's English classes are invited to join, if they have not already done so. The next meeting will be held Saturday night week in English room immediately after supper.

WORK OF ENLARGING HISTORY MUSEUM BEGUN AT G. S. C. W.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 4—

With the completion of the various class and campus organizations at the Georgia State College for Women, attention has again been directed to enlarging the Georgia History Museum, which was auspiciously begun last year under the sponsorship of the History Club at the college.

The museum was first thought of by Dr. Amanda Johnson, head of the department of history. The students have brought many old relics from Georgia attics, and several glass cases and files have already been filled with letters, papers, war relics, Indian trophies and other things, that tell a glamorous tale of Georgia's past.

Dr. Johnson has also conceived the idea of having a part of the Museum devoted to the history of the college, containing college catalogs, wax figures showing the evolution of the G. S. C. W. uniform, and other things. This has not yet been worked up but will probably be taken up as a special project by some group. Dr. Edward A. Tigner, trustee of the college, presented the museum with a copy of the invitation issued for the opening of the college in 1889.

The museum attracted a great deal of attention from the thousands of commencement visitors, and the history club has been receiving interesting donations from all parts of the state.

MAJOR'S AND MINOR'S CHEMISTRY PICNIC

Test tubes hike! Well almost! Friday all those girls who are either majoring or minoring in Chemistry went on a picnic. Dr. Lindsley attended to all the politics and the girls attended to everything else—especially eating.

The girls met in front of Parks Hall at 5:30 and hiked to the nearby woods. Here everyone tried to learn every other girl's name and past history. Supper was cooked, eaten, and voted a thing to be remembered.

The picnic is the second meeting of the Chemistry Club this year. Dr. Lindsley says there will be other picnics and still other good times for the members in the year to come. Good luck to them all!

G. S. C. W. PROFESSOR WRITING FRENCH BOOK

Dr. S. L. McGee, head of the department of French at G. S. C. W., is at work on a French book soon to be published. The title of the book is L'Ancien Regime by F. Funck-Brentano. Dr. McGee is editing it in collaboration with Dr. C. C. Spiker of West Virginia University.

Dr. McGee is one of the ablest instructors on the faculty of the Georgia State College for Women and is splendidly equipped for his position as professor of French there, having spent three and a half years in France, being enrolled as a student at the University of Montpellier for two years. He is an authority on French literature, customs and characteristics, and the appearance of his book will be of great interest to French students.

ABE MARTIN COMMENTS ON "HARD TIMES"

"I jest hadn't thought about hard times," quotes Abe Martin in the November College Humor. "I knew 'course that farmers had quit smoking cigars an' that banks hemmed an' hawed if they knowed you wanted to borrow money to buy a car, but I never dreamed the general depression would git around to us," said Mrs. Leghorn Tharp's niece recently. An' then she went on: 'We jest can't borrow the money to send our two daughters to a summer camp, an' here I am with the prospect o' two long-legged girls bossin' me around all summer. I'll bet they beat it back to college in the fall if I've got to cook in a restaurant to git rid of them.'

"The cost of keepin' children away from home these days is mountin' in spite of eighty-three cent wheat an' general unemployment. Mrs. Joe Kite is sollicitin' subscriptions to magazines to keep her girl in the Adirondacks. She don't worry about her boy. She knows where he is. He's in jail an' out of harm's way. 'Tve done nothin' but stand over a hot stove an' cook fer fraterinity brothers this blessed summer,' sighed Mrs. Artie Small. 'An', she added, 'our son wuz so pop'lar at college that his frat brothers thumb their way from nearly ever' state in the union to be with him. O'course he can't git work, so he just sticks around home an' entertains.'

Among Contemporaries

The editorial room of every college paper is in an uproar at this time of the year. Editors are sitting at their desks looking dreamily off into space trying to conjure up an idea, associates are running hither and you trying to act very important, and new additions to the staff are vainly trying to write something which will be fit to put in the paper so that they can send it home to the proud parents who will bore the whole town showing them what Johnny wrote. But after a week of hard labor out comes a paper which is similar to the first edition of every school paper in the country.

In big headlines on the front page will be stated the fact that college has opened again as if everyone had not been griping about that very thing for the past three weeks. Over in the left hand corner is a column devoted to the freshman class.

Has ever been enrolled at old Podunk. And don't forget the news which of course is the largest item concerning the football team, of how it promises to be the best one in many a moon. In this column we have the coach's prediction that it will be a successful year, that this is the best bunch of men that he has had the pleasure of coaching and that every one of them is going to do his level best to put old Podunk on the map. Can't you imagine the consternation of the player reading this (contrary to popular opinion some football players can read) when he remembers that on the day before the coach told the football squad that they wore the dumbest bunch of half-wits in forty-eight states and that if they won a game it would be a miracle.

Turning to the editorial page (sometimes call the funny page,) we notice where the editor, that eternal optimist, tells that we are shaping our future careers and that now is the time to buckle down to hard work. We often think that the editor says this for the sole purpose of making a hit with the instructors. And besides that topic gets monotonous after you have heard the same song from forty different instructors.

All the advertisements give us the glad hand and welcome us back effusively. You can bet they are glad to see us back because for the last three months they have been keeping their books in red ink.

And last comes a contemporary column which is written by some poor fool to fill up space.—V. M. I. Cadet.

G. S. C. W. For The Alumnae

THE ALUMNAE For G. S. C. W.

A SALUTE TO OUR ALMA MATER

I am asked to enumerate the glories of having been a daughter of G. S. C. W., but I wonder if it shall not be too intricate a task. I'm sure, however, that my glorification begins in the rich heritage which the college has handed out to me as a graduate. And as an egoist would claim a lineage traceable to kings and queens, I too would claim an Alma Mater that has worn the richest of jewels in its crown since the day of its foundation—and one which has stood for a cause greater than that of subduing the Romans.

Through being a daughter of this institution I have been brought in contact with hundreds of girls. Somehow it has taught me the true worth of friendship. I have experienced the heartache that comes from homesickness—but it has brought a deeper thrill when the home-going days arrived; and I have known the grind of hard work both day and night—but it has brought the satisfaction to me of knowing that it was not work done in vain.

I glory in the fact that I have been an atom in an institution that has stood for the highest type of morality, and in an institution that has been progressive. A thrill that comes to me is that through all the principal changes her personality stands out as purely as ever—a dominating force with everything with which it comes in contact.

We of the Alumnae salute our Alma Mater with a pride and a devotion that is unexplainable. G. S. C. W. for the Alumnae? Yes! And always—the Alumnae for G. S. C. W.

LATIN CLUB ORGANIZED. OFFICERS ELECTED. SARA WOFFORD NAMED PRESIDENT.

A large number of the Latin students met this week and organized a Latin Club under the supervision of Dr. Frances Daniels, head of the department.

The officers elected for the year were president, Sara Wofford, Social Circle, Ga.; vice president, Margaret Rucker, Alpharetta, Ga.; secretary, Helen Jones, Elberton, Ga.; treasurer, Gwendolyn Spear, Pembroke, Ga.; chairman of program committee, Betty Murray, Lincoln, Ga.; chairman of social committee, Louise Whaley, Adel, Ga.

The aim of the club is to develop a better appreciation and love for Latin and to promote its interests by showing that it is beautiful and practical.

The Latin department is one of the strongest on the campus. It is interesting to note also that the Latin chair was the first to be filled when the College was organized in 1890.

Plans are now being made to carry out the aims expressed by the club. A program will be given in chapel Oct. 15 celebrating the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of Vergil, who is one of the greatest poets of all time.

ALUMNAE GRANDDAUGHTERS OF THE COLLEGE

Students Whose Mothers Graduated or Attended G. S. C. W.

ORGANIZATION OF FRENCH CLUB BEGUN

Girls interested in French met October 8, in response to a meeting called by Paunce Rigsby, to form a French Club. With the help of Dr. McGee the organization was started and a committee composed of Gertrude Gilmore, Margaret Darden, Dorothy Allen, Edna Tigner, Paunce Rigsby and Maybelle Gibson was appointed to write up the constitution of the club.

It was decided that the members should be girls who were either majoring or minoring in French or had at least twelve hours of French. During the ensuing year the members of the club hope to obtain not only a more thorough knowledge of the French language but also information about the country, the people and the customs of France.

BIBLE CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

The members of the Miss Hallie Smith's Bible Class met on Sunday for the purpose of organization and to make plans as to what the class desired to study during the fall semester. It was decided that the class would make a study of the great women of the Bible.

The following officers were elected: Margaret Neal, President; Mary Earnest Norris, Vice-President; Helen Agnew, Secretary and Treasurer; Margaret Trapnell, Chairman.

Program Committee: Helen Southwell, Chairman Social Committee; Frances Williams, Pianist; Mary Potts, Chairman Membership and Infirmary Committee; Willie Mae Stowe, Chairman Publicity Committee.

The word "pal" meaning friend originated with the gypsies. In the Romany language "pal" is the word for brother.

WOLF VISITS SCHOOL

The story about the lamb that went out of school is very nice to tell children, but when a wolf tries to emulate Mary's well known lamb, well that's different. However a wolf did visit school taught by one of our graduates, Kistie Melton from Decatur who graduated last June.

According to the DeKalb New Era, the story goes something like this: Miss Annie Kate Melton, of Decatur, principal of Klondike school, was conducting her usual classes Tuesday.

"And the big wolf said to little Red Riding Hood—"

"Was the wolf like that one out yonder, Miss Melton?" inquired an alert pupil.

"Don't interrupt, children," admonished the principal. "What wolf?"

"That one!" screamed her pupils, pointing out the window to the school yard.

Rushing to the windows, Miss Melton and her young charges gazed alarmingly at the edge of the woods bordering on the school yard.

The animal was described by the teacher and her pupils as being either a western coyote or a wolf, wandered about the part—evidently looking for crumbs—for awhile and then disappeared in to the woods.

Miss Melton called several nearby residents, who obtained dogs and took up the trail of the suspected wolf. Their search at that time that section, near Lithonia, declare that the animal has been seen before.

It is believed that the wolf is a descendant of several which were released near Lithonia by wolf and fox-hunting parties a year or two ago.

HEALTH CLUB REORGANIZES

The members of the Health Club met for the first time Saturday, October 4, in Mrs. Wooten's lecture room, for the purpose of electing officers, and welcoming all new members. All the old members welcomed especially Miss Louise Smith, G. S. C. W. graduate, and a recent addition to the health faculty.

The business of the club was primarily to elect President, Vice President, and Parliamentarian, the other officers for the coming year having been elected at the close of the past semester. But on account of the absence of some of the officers elected last year, there were several readjustments to be made. The following will hold offices for the coming year:

Catherine Jones, former Publicity Chairman, President; Mary Rogers, former second Vice President, first Vice Pres; Mary Diman, second Vice Pres; Eva Lou McGowan, Secretary; Helen Southland, Treasurer; Celia McCall, Publicity Chairman; Mary Eberhart, Chairman of Social Committee; and Frances Thaxton was unanimously elected Parliamentarian.

After all the business, plans were completed, both old and new members enjoyed an informal social.

The Panama canal is 40 miles long.

FACULTY ALUMNAE

BIBLE STUDY CLASS ORGANIZED SUNDAY

A growing interest is seen each Sunday in the Freshman Bible Study Class, under the direction of Miss Nora Ethel English.

Officers for this semester were chosen Sunday, October 5. They are as follows:

President, Sarah McMillan, Fort Valley, Ga.; Vice-President, Rebecca Wesley, Atlanta, Ga.; Secretary, Mildred Connell, Cairo, Ga.; Treasurer, Esther Joyner, Rome, Ga.; Social Chairman, Madie Chastain, Thomasville, Ga.; Program Chairman, Margaret Kelley, Blakeley, Ga.; Pianist, Carolyn Sheppard, Cuthbert, Ga.; Assistant Pianist, Mildred Johnson, Rome, Ga.; Chorister, Grace Creel, Union City, Ga.

BIBLE STUDY CLASS ORGANIZATION

The members of Miss Moye's Bible Study Class, which meets in the parlor of Bell Annex was organized on Oct. 5th, 1930.

There are 28 members enrolled: Miss Kathryn Lawrence had charge of the devotional, after which the members elected class officers for the semester.

The following officers were elected:

President ..... Louise Hatcher
Vice-President ..... Carol Reed
Secretary ..... Carolyn Burns
Treasurer ..... Irene Farren
Social Committee:
Chairman—Sue Mansfield, Nita Will
Hodges, Elizabeth Gordon.

Program Committee:
Chairman — Katherine Lawrence,
Ruth Perry, Lucy Hearn.

Press: Reporter — Annie Hugh Hancock.

The class is anticipating a real benefit from the Bible Study Class, as well as pleasure. The class started off the year by every girl in the class being a "Blue Bird" to some other girl in the class for whom she should do some kind deed each week.

Dr. McGee: Are you a Freshman? Monk: No, I'm an Irishman.

Will you love me forever
pleaded the young lover
"I can not tell that" Coily replied the sweet young flapper, as she gazed at the beautiful necklace he had given her, but "I will love you for the present."

"LOVELY THINGS"

The most beautiful memories that can come to one are those of lovely things. Work and play are lovely things when viewed through the eyes of joy in attaining satisfaction of the goal set. Work and play bring memories of you—oh, G. S. C.!

As I sit listening to memories, there echoes within my heart many memories of life at my Alma Mater. The thousands of noises of past student generations are constantly resounded within her walls as the aim to carry forward is expressed.

The ideals of a life well lived are made real to me as the keynote of science to teach service to each other is shown by word and act.

A song and a smile of cheerfulness brightens my day in memory of happy friends. The beauty of nature, together with the hand of man's careful planning, brings strength and a challenge of stability, as I see again the campus of buildings faced with columns, the rolling lawns, the colorful shrubs and those marvelous old trees.

These are but a few of my "lovely things" in memory. To make all memory beautiful is the joy I experience: is the knowledge of what the pre-ent day brings forth—that of keeping close the bond of purpose and spirit, one generation with another, as we go toward the fulfilling of life into which our Alma Mater sends us.

Rosabel Burch.

BREAKFAST GIVEN IN PARK

Last Saturday morning Government Square Park was the scene of an early morning hike given in honor of Mr. S. E. Burns of Fitzgerald. A delicious breakfast was enjoyed by Bobby Burns, Lucile Little, Virginia Bagwell, Frances Brantom, Mary Alice Wheeler, Miss Polly Moss, Rosabel Burch, Mrs. Burns, and Mary Driskel.

G. S. C. W.

G—stands for gain
That we all obtain,
For gaiety too.
There's fun to do.
S—is for squareness,
We strive for fairness,
It's for smiles also,
Happy faces we show.
C—stands for chum
We all have one,
And christians you see,
Which we all try to be.
W—Stands for work,
There's no way to skirk,
And for wisdom it stands,
Our knowledge expands.
Take all these good things and then add some more,
And you will have what this College stands for.

The beautiful Boston Avenue Methodist church in Tulsa, Okla., was designed by a woman—Miss Adah Robinson.

A law recently passed in British India prohibited the marriage of 7 year old girls to old men, is resented by the Hindus and Moslem on the ground that it is an interference with their religion.

YOUR CAR AND MINE

"Yonder comes a Ford
Across that field,
Kicking up dust
Like an automobile."

This melodious chant comes to my mind as I ponder the points for and against automobile ownership—not that I am in the market for a car, I am still well satisfied with my model T Ford—no automobile for me. That lets all threatening salesmen out so far as I am concerned.

As my Ford grows older each year it becomes more useful and beautiful in my sight. I bought it back in 1914 when "Lizzies" were in style. Model T's are not only the very last word in "collegiateness" but they allow one to become a close observer. Yes very close! Since one is compelled to stop every sixty seconds and fix some trifle that holds up the journey along the way-side. The country is able to be seen from all angles. Good way to learn Geography eh? Then too, these cars have great power of speed—great enough for most any slow traveling citizen.

One of the main attractions to this type of vehicle is the various kinds of color schemes one can employ. The Ford can stand a new coat of paint each week and a new set of slogans. Slogans—thats it! They enable your originality to become known and appreciated in such a big way.

And speaking of saving time—there's nothing like the time they save. No doors to be pulled at and opened, no cushions to become all rested and relaxed on, so when the destination is reached you are quite ready to jump right out. The energy spent in avoiding the bumps would save the business man and overweights their daily dozen. Usually on the older models there are no windshields to be cleaned and no lights to lose a good disposition. The tires are most reliable until they blow out.

It is nice to own a Model T Ford and not owe for an automobile. In owning a Model T over exertion could be avoided by not having to dodge the monthly installment collections of real automobiles. I believe I'm a lucky owner, think I'll keep mine.
